The image shows a Facebook post from the Texas Tech Graduate Student Advisory Council (TTUGSAC) on November 18, 2012. The post features a red "Keep Calm and Research On" graphic with a white crown icon. The text reads: "Ever wonder how you're going to make it to the end of semester, or even the end of the week with all of your responsibilities and expectations as a graduate student? Do you feel like your stress level affects your work or quality of life? Keep calm and register for the Managing Stress as a Graduate Student workshop on Nov 28, 3-4:30pm: <https://www.tltc.ttu.edu/WebApps/EMSEventEnrollmentPro/View/RSS/RSS.aspx/GetEvents!>" Below the main text, there is a "This workshop will provide basic, easy-to-use skills and techniques to help graduate students cope with the stress of graduate school. We will also demonstrate and practice skills during the workshop, and attendees will have time to ask questions about stress and stress management." section. At the bottom of the post, there are options to "Tag Photo", "Add Location", and "Edit". The post has received several likes and comments from users like Jason Flores and Jacek Jorica-Jasinski.

Carol of Lights Run & Grad Student Center Open House

Run with GSAC @ Carol of Lights Run!

Dec 3, 2012 // by Kimberly Ellmore // Events, News // No Comments

GSAC is sponsoring the Carol of the Lights Run December 9th at 6:30 pm. We are looking for a few volunteers and, of course, runners as well. The 5K track will go around the lights on campus and through the JONES AT&T Stadium onto the field.

We will also be doing an open house of the new Graduate Center in the Administration Building West Basement, so please come check out this new space just for graduate students. We want to hear from you how to design the space you will want to use.

We have a discount code for TTU students — "TTUlights" — if you register on the West Texas Endurance Website: <http://westtexasendurance.com/carol-of-lights/>. You can also use this link to register as a runner. Early registration ends Sunday.

All VOLUNTEERS get a free t-shirt for helping out.

ALL RUNNERS will get a shirt and a travel coffee mug at the finish line to use for coffee/hot chocolate. You can take this mug to reJAVAnate in Cardinal's and get a discount as long as you bring the mug.

In addition to the run, we are helping out with a toy and game donation box that will be in the Administration Building TBA. If you donate a toy or game, we will keep your name for a drawing for some Graduate School gift bags. All donations will go to the Boys and Girls Club for the Holidays.

Thanks, and look forward to seeing you there!

Graduation Gown Swap

December 14, 2012

Graduation GownSwap

(Public) By Texas Tech Graduate Student Advisory Council

Events | Maybe |

Friday, December 14, 2012 8:30pm until 10:30pm

The GSAC collects masters and doctoral gowns from recent graduates to provide to graduate students for future graduations free of charge. We'll be at the United Spirit Arena after graduation this Friday to collect gowns and serve lemonade & tea to new graduates and their guests.

How the #gownswap program works:

1. We ask graduate students to donate their graduation regalia after graduation. GSAC representatives will be at the United Spirit Arena after graduation to collect donations.
2. We clean and store the regalia.
3. We rent regalia to graduate students walking at the next graduation free of charge.

This semester we were pleased to provide cleaned, donated gowns to ten graduate students who are walking on Friday. Help us grow this popular service!

If you have questions or want to make a donation at a different time, please email us at gsac@ttu.edu. Thank you!

Graduate Student Advisory Council to host elections

A teacher on a Native American reservation in Wyoming and an assistant vice chancellor for community college districts in Texas are among some of the candidates campaigning for votes in the semiannual Graduate Student Advisory Council elections.

The ballot has tripled compared to last year, said Jacek Jasinski, director of graduate student life with GSAC, coming in at a total of 79 candidates. The response from this year, he said, has been overwhelming.

"I keep getting emails now from people who still would like to submit on the ballot," he said. "I am basically turning them away because the ballot has closed."

Voting runs from Wednesday to Thursday, he said, and results should be in no later than Friday.

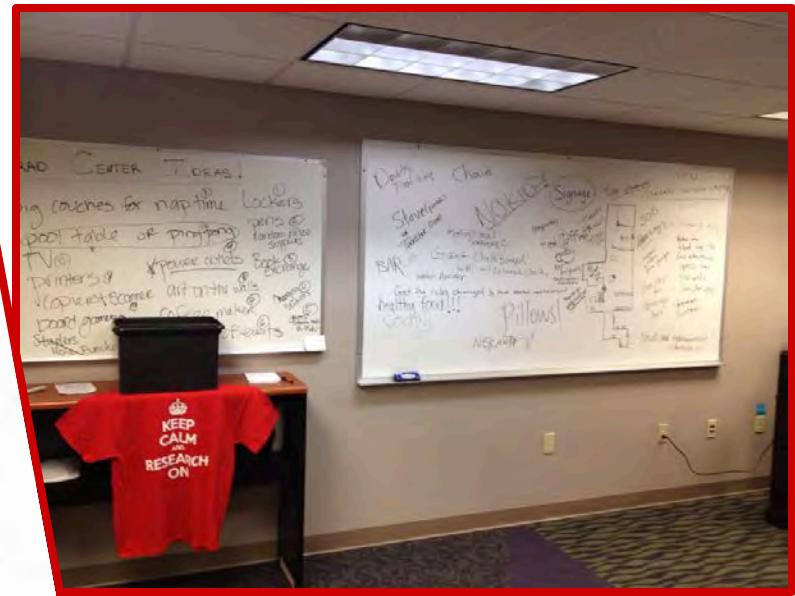

Jasinski said 20 slots are open. Students who are elected will become voting members. Internal elections are done later to determine which positions each will receive.

Graduate members, they each have their own responsibilities, said Garrett Mohr, a biology student from Kansas City, Mo.

"They attend meetings and discuss issues," he said, "and then they're also required to serve on commissions of their choice, usually three or four of the vice president."

A student from Austin, said there are eight commissions within GSAC. They include community outreach, academic and professional.

REGISTER FOR THE GSAC SCHOLAR RETREAT!

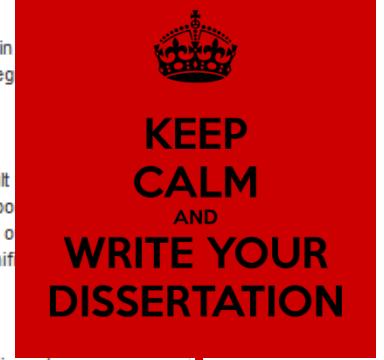

Do you need motivation to finish your dissertation or thesis? GSAC's Scholar Retreat is the answer!

This event provides focused writing time and writing consultants to help get you through those final writing stages. Two sessions will be offered: April 29-May 3 from 9:00 AM to 12:00 PM, OR April 29-May 3 from 6:00 PM to 9:00 PM. You may only sign up for one session (either morning or evening) and you are expected to attend each day for your session.

To register, go to: <http://www.depts.ttu.edu/gradschool/private?app=EventReg.aspx>. Sign in select Event Registration Page, then select the session you would like to sign up for and reg danielle.jahn@ttu.edu with any questions.

What is the Scholar Retreat?
GSAC's Scholar Retreat has been developed to help students progress through the difficult the dissertation process, towards its completion. By offering a quiet environment and suppo focused writing time, the Retreat provides participants with the structure and motivation to o roadblocks in the dissertation process. Our goal is to assist each participant in making signif toward completing his or her project.

Is this for me?
This event is directed primarily toward students in the final stages of writing their dissertations. In many disciplines, final stages could be defined as the time period after data has been collected. However, individuals working on a dissertation proposal or master's thesis could also benefit from the structured time, space, professional writing consultation, and motivational support of the program. The Scholars' Retreat is limited to 12 Texas Tech University graduate students per session.

After you view each presentation, please share your questions or thoughts with us on the discussion boards. Each presentation has a discussion board with the same title set up through Discussions in the navigation menu. Periodically throughout the day, Jeannie and I will moderate today's discussions about the presentations and writing submitted for consultation (click on Assignments in the navigation menu to view this activity). Based on the pre-Boot Camp survey, we will each keep the following online office hours from Tuesday, June 18th through Friday, June 20th:

- 3pm - 5pm: Jeannie Bennett (jeannie.bennett@ttu.edu)

August 22, 2013

We're at Graduate Student Orientation (GSO) today, welcoming new Red Raider graduate students!

And for the first time, we're livestreaming GSO presentations for online graduate students at <http://is.gd/ttugsac>. Dr. Duane Nellis, President of Texas Tech University, is talking to new graduate students right now, and the live feed is working great!

You can get more information about the presentations here: http://www.gsac.ttu.edu/wp-content/uploads/correct_GSO-webcasts-info-list_8-22-13.pdf. Recordings will be available next week for online access by those who could not attend GSO.

Dr. Fanni Liu Coward, Assistant Professor of Educational Psychology, is giving a fabulous presentation on The Thesis and Dissertation Process at Graduate Student Orientation right now! You can catch our GSO live stream at <http://is.gd/ttugsac>. Dr. Coward is such a funny, knowledgeable, and personable speaker.
